

PSC/IR 106: United Nations

William Spaniel

williamspaniel.com/pscir-106

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

MINURSO

UNMIL

MONUSCO

UNICEF

UNMISS

ICC

ECOSOC

UNMOGIP

UNSC

IAEA

UNOCI

UNAMA UNSMIL

UNAMID

UNMIK

UNFICYP

UNISFA

UNESCO

UNDOF

UNIFIL

UNTSO

MINUSTAH

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

UNSC

General Assembly

- Consists of everyone.
- Researchers use it to measure how much states have in common.

A Big But

- GA's votes are (mostly) non-binding.
- Bid for Palestinian statehood passed 138-9 (41 abstentions).
 - But this only made Palestine equal to the Vatican.

Security Council

- This is where the action is at!
- Anything important must go through the UNSC.
- So we're going to focus on it.

Membership

Permanent Members

Membership

Permanent Members (Winners of WWII)

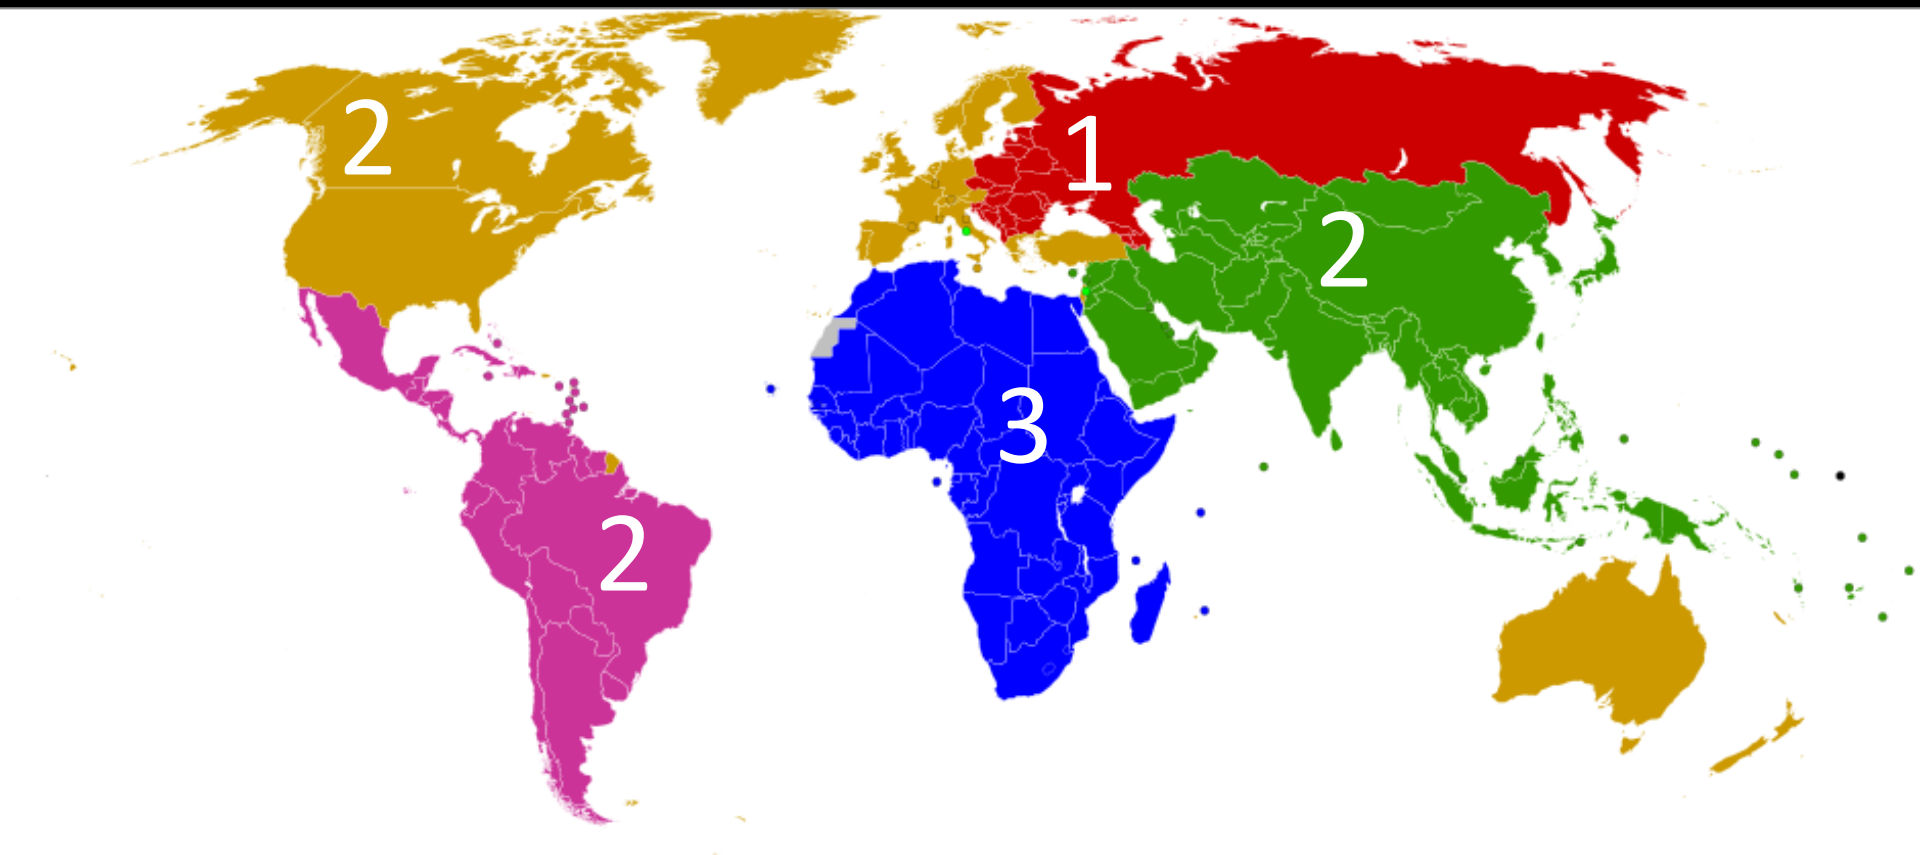

Membership

Permanent Members

Non-Permanent Members (elected by regions for two year terms)

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

Calculating Preferences

- UNGA votes are on the public record.
- We can track these votes to create a “left-right” spectrum just like in domestic politics.
 - Right: Loves the liberal order.
 - Left: Not so much.

2012

1962

1988

2012

China's Best Friends (2012 % Agreed)

- | | |
|---------------------|------------------------|
| 1. Nauru (100%) | 6. Bangladesh (87.9%) |
| 2. Zimbabwe (90.2%) | 6. Kuwait (87.9%) |
| 3. Pakistan (89.2%) | 6. Oman (87.9%) |
| 3. Algeria (89.2%) | 9. Afghanistan (87.7%) |
| 3. Syria (89.2%) | 10. Qatar (87.7%) |

Israel's Best Friends (2012 % Agreed)

- | | |
|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. USA (85.3%) | 6. Marshall Is. (65.0%) |
| 2. Palau (77.0%) | 7. UK (47.6%) |
| 3. Micronesia (72.7%) | 8. Czech Rep. (42.6%) |
| 4. Canada (67.2%) | 8. Australia (87.7%) |
| 5. Nauru (66.7%) | 10. France (41.2%) |

Other Fun Facts

- Most Agreeable (tie): Chile and Dominican Republic, 67 yeas (out of 68)
- Dr. No Award: United States, 45 nays
- Honey badger award for not giving a [darn]: Cameroon, 24 abstentions
- Most Confusing: Nauru

Key Takeaway

- State preferences are not identical.
- Seems obvious, but IR scholars believed for decades that all states were essentially identical except for size and power.

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

UNSC Voting Rules

- Nine affirmative votes needed to pass a resolution.
- Five permanent members all have veto power.
 - The votes could be 14-1 and still fail if the 1 is the United States.
 - This happens on resolutions involving Israel.
 - Abstentions allowed.
 - A 14-0 vote passes the resolution.

Aug 30, 2014

I want to [redacted] idiot who first came up with the concept of veto in the united nations.

Reply · 2

Why Veto Power?

- The permanent members are all really strong militarily.
- For the UNSC to continue to exist, the militarily strong actors have to get their way.

Why Veto Power?

- The permanent members are all really strong militarily.
- For the UNSC to continue to exist, the militarily strong actors have to get their way.
 - Otherwise, they would yell “screw the rules” and leave the building immediately.
 - This happens anyway. (Think Iraq in 2003.)

Trivia Time!

UNSC Resolution 82 authorized a United Nations intervention in the Korean War. Why didn't the Soviet Union exercise its veto power?

- a) The USSR believed that Kim il-Sung was corrupt.
- b) The USSR didn't understand that its veto power prevented the UNSC from becoming the United States' puppet.
- c) The Soviet ambassador was an American spy.
- d) The Soviet ambassador was hung over, got up late, and missed the vote due to New York City traffic.

Trivia Time!

UNSC Resolution 82 authorized a United Nations intervention in the Korean War. Why didn't the Soviet Union exercise its veto power?

- a) ~~The USSR believed that Kim il-Sung was corrupt.~~
- b) The USSR didn't understand that its veto power prevented the UNSC from becoming the United States' puppet.
- c) The Soviet ambassador was an American spy.
- d) The Soviet ambassador was hung over, got up late, and missed the vote due to New York City traffic.

Trivia Time!

UNSC Resolution 82 authorized a United Nations intervention in the Korean War. Why didn't the Soviet Union exercise its veto power?

a) ~~The USSR believed that Kim il Sung was corrupt.~~

b) The USSR didn't understand that its veto power prevented the UNSC from becoming the United States' puppet.

c) ~~The Soviet ambassador was an American spy.~~

d) The Soviet ambassador was hung over, got up late, and missed the vote due to New York City traffic.

(Which) China(?)

- China “won” World War II, but was a gigantic mess.
- Chinese Civil War started in 1927 and didn’t finish until 1950.

(Which) China(?)

- China's permanent seat went to the Republic of China (ROC) in 1945.
- But ROC retreated to Taiwan in 1950.

(Which) China(?)

- Soviet Union thought the People's Republic of China (PRC)—the winner of the war—should win the seat.
- U.S. didn't care. And they have veto power!

We're boycotting!

We're
boycotting!

Cool story,
bro!

Worst. Plan. Ever.

- U.S. starts proposing hugely pro-American resolutions. The UNSC does its bidding.

Worst. Plan. Ever.

- U.S. starts proposing hugely pro-American resolutions. The UNSC does its bidding.
- Soviet Union realizes its mistake and ends its boycott after eight months.

Membership

Permanent Members (Original)

Membership

Permanent Members (Nixon Goes to China, 1971)

Membership

Permanent Members (Soviet Union splits, 1991)

By the Numbers

- Cold War (1945-1990): 687 resolutions
- Post Cold War (1990-today): 1500 resolutions
 - Twice the resolutions in about half the time!

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

Trivia Time!

In discussing the current civil war in Syria, China often mentions the “disastrous” UNSCR 1973, which authorized military action against Libya. How did China vote on 1973?

- a) Yes.
- b) No.
- c) Abstain.
- d) The Chinese ambassador was hung over, got up late, and missed the vote due to New York City traffic.

Why?

1. China made a mistake.
2. Something more nefarious is going on.

Insincere Voting

- UNSC members must consider the effects of a “yes” vote versus a “no” vote.
- Tacit approval of a resolution may be better than no resolution.

Benefits of a Resolution

- Having UNSC authorization leads to more inclusive alliances and cheaper costs to fight.

Benefits of a Resolution

- Having UNSC authorization leads to more inclusive alliances and cheaper costs to fight.
 - But this often comes at the cost of scope.
 - UNSC authorized action may be limited.

Quick Definition

- Outside option: the best available plan of action if the primary option fails to work.

When Outside Options Are Good

United States

1. UNSC authorized action (cheaper, even if more limited)
2. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)
3. No action

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action (limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action (broad in scope)

Approve

Veto

Go

No Action

Go Alone

No Action

Veto

Go Alone

No Action

When Outside Options Are Good

United States

1. UNSC authorized action
(cheaper, even if more limited)
2. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)
3. No action

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action
(limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action
(broad in scope)

Veto

Go Alone

Approve

Go

No Action

When Outside Options Are Good

United States

1. UNSC authorized action (cheaper, even if more limited)
2. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)
3. No action

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action (limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action (broad in scope)

Approve

Go

Approve

Veto

Go

Go Alone

When Outside Options Are Good

United States

1. UNSC authorized action (cheaper, even if more limited)
2. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)
3. No action

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action (limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action (broad in scope)

Approve

Go

Insincere Voting

- China votes insincerely!
- Vetoing the proposal causes the U.S. to take more extreme action. Tacit approval is better.

When Outside Options Are Bad

United States

1. UNSC authorized action
(cheaper, even if more limited)
2. No action
3. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action
(limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action
(broad in scope)

Approve

Veto

Go

No Action

Go Alone

No Action

Veto

Go Alone

No Action

When Outside Options Are Bad

United States

1. UNSC authorized action
(cheaper, even if more limited)
2. No action
3. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action
(limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action
(broad in scope)

Veto

No Action

Approve

Go

No Action

When Outside Options Are Bad

United States

1. UNSC authorized action
(cheaper, even if more limited)
2. No action
3. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action
(limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action
(broad in scope)

Approve

Go

Approve

Veto

Go

No Action

When Outside Options Are Bad

United States

1. UNSC authorized action
(cheaper, even if more limited)
2. No action
3. Unilateral action (more expensive, but still worthwhile)

China

1. No action
2. UNSC authorized action
(limited in scope)
3. Unilateral American action
(broad in scope)

Veto

No Action

Outside Options Matter

- When U.S.'s outside options are bad, China votes sincerely.
- When they are good, China votes insincerely.

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

Unanimity

- Most UNSC resolutions have unanimous support.
 - For resolutions 1901-2000, all but nine passed 15-0-0.

Why?

1. States just love to get along.
2. Resolutions only get brought up to vote if they will pass unanimously.
3. Something more nefarious is going on.

Bribery!

- How much does U.S. foreign aid increase when a state serves a two-year term on the Security Council?

Bribery!

- How much does U.S. foreign aid increase when a state serves a two-year term on the Security Council?
 - 59%!

The Primary Theory

- States do not feel too strongly about most issues on the docket.
- The United States bribes the non-permanent members for their support.

Potential Objections

- Correlation does not imply causation.
- There is ongoing debate on whether the United States is truly bribing members.

The Bribery-Lite Theory

- Cash exchanges aren't bribes but rather an expression of gratitude from the United States.

The More Nuanced Argument

- The U.S. rarely punishes for non-compliance.
- The “bribes” are just payments hoping to buy goodwill.

The Counter Argument

- Being on the Security Council makes your needs more salient, and thus aid increases benignly.

The Counter Argument

- Being more active in the international community both makes serving on the Security Council more likely and increases foreign aid.

The Everything Argument

- These theories are not mutually exclusive.
- Even if bribery does occur, the 59% figure vastly inflates the actual effect.

Outline

- Overview
- General Assembly voting
- Veto power
- UNSC strategic voting
- UNSC bribery
- Rally 'round the flag effects

Rally 'Round the Flag

- The tendency for leaders' approval ratings to shoot up during a time of crisis.

Dilemma

- Citizens want to support their leaders during crises when it is in the national interest.
- But this is prone to abuse!
 - Principal-agent problem!

Information Asymmetries

- National leaders know whether a crisis is legitimate.
- Citizens do not have access to that intelligence and are thus in the dark.

Role of the UNSC

- Other states on the UNSC don't suffer from this information asymmetry.
- Thus, they provide third-party verification of the authenticity of the crisis.

UNSC Vote

- Vote yes? Crisis is real.
- Vote no?
 1. Crisis is a sham.
 2. Crisis is real but other countries are biased.

Theory in Practice

- Controlling for other factors, presidents under crisis receive 9% greater rallies with UNSC support than without.